PLAYING INSTRUCTIONS

After the opening appears, press the [OPTION] key. You must now choose your battlefield from among the three choices. To view the different fields, press the [SELECT] key. When you have chosen the one you want, press the [START] key.

You are now in the midst of the lush jungles of L'ryana. You must move your neutrino blaster around the screen by using your Joystick. The object is to destroy the vipers which start crawling out from the top and bottom of the screen. The Skugg bugs, which drop from the top of the screen can be destroyed with two blasts from your neutrino weapon. As you can see, life isn't easy on the planet of L'ryana, but wait, it gets worse.

The deadly Evil Evan is out to get you. This is the deadly creature that rotates about its axis. Although it looks like it is smiling, do not consider it friendly. The Evil Evan goes through many phases in life, marked by its frequently changing colors. It may only be killed when it is red.

If for some reason you lose your neutrino blaster, do not fear... The Star Federation has equipped you with four. But if you run out of blasters, your mission has failed.

Luckily for the Star Federation, this is only a computer simulation. To try again, simply press the [START] key.
