

"... COME IN, MOONSWEEPER... ARE YOU THERE?... COME IN..."

MOONSWEEPER

"... Star Command to all video game players... we have confirmed reports that U.S.S. Moonsweeper was attacked by an alien transport... Moonsweeper last sighted clearing aurora flares on way to rescue Malanium miners on Lunar Alpha Red... she lowered shields, located Alpha Red, and began final approach... we do not know if Moonsweeper was forced into a mining tower

... or was shot down heading for acceleration rings... we do know several enemy destroyers were shot down before communications went dead... proceed to nearest video store and attempt to make contact with Moonsweeper... situation critical... repeat... situation critical... over..."

MOONSWEEPER BY IMAGIC

For Atari® 2600.™ Soon for Intellivision,® ColecoVision,™ VIC-20,™ Atari® Computers and TI-99/4A.

TV PROMOTED
NEW RELEASE

PRESS INFORMATION

Imagic Distribution Centre, Hales Ltd.,
P.O. Box 33, Harrowbrook Road, Hinckley,
Leicestershire LE10 3DN
Tel: 0455 610770 Telex: 341316

CAN YOU FIND MOONSWEEPER IN IMAGIC'S NEW VIDEO GAME CARTRIDGE?

Calling all Atari, Mattel, Colecovision and Vic-20 operators. Star Command requests you to join the search for Moonsweeper. Intergalactic reports confirm that U.S.S. Moonsweeper has been attacked by alien transport. But where is she?

The spacecraft was last sighted clearing aurora flares on the way to rescue Malanium miners on Lunar Alpha Red...she lowered shields, located Alpha Red and began final approach. Then nothing.

We do not know if Moonsweeper was forced into a mining tower...or was shot down heading for acceleration rings. All we do know is that several enemy destroyers were shot down before communications went dead.

Your task is to land, locate and rescue the men...but from which planet...blue, green, yellow or red? Blue is the easier, red the most difficult.

Avoid or destroy enemy saucers while negotiating their shots. The towers cannot be destroyed. After locating the men help is at hand as acceleration rings appear to help you lift-off.

Moonsweeper from Imagic is one of a new series of video games. Cartridges are available for Atari 2600, Mattel, Intellivision, Colecovision and Vic-20. You can also play Moonsweeper on Atari Computers and TI-99/4A.

For further details on Moonsweeper and the complete range of Imagic titles contact – The Imagic Distribution Centre, P.O. Box 33, Harrowbrook Road, Hinckley, Leicester. LE10 3DN.

END.

SOLAR STORM

Mostly sunny, highs in the upper 9000's.

Solar Storm™ warnings are in effect.

The sun has exploded and the forecast is doom and destruction for your planet unless you stop the solar fallout and the invasion of alien Deltoids.

Bnnarrff. Kgonk. Brrullll.

Drat, your defendership has been useless against the solar flak and alien laserbolts.

Sizzle, krackle, ktczzzz...

Now the heat's on. Your planet's heat shield glows redder and redder with each Deltoid you miss.

Kponk. Kchungggg. Kblamm.

If you can't get to the orbital platform to battle with the Deltoid armada and secure more defenderships, say goodbye planet.

The Deltoid fireworks will be too much for the defence shields, and the planet will explode into another solar super nova.

If all this sounds like fun in the sun to you, you're right.

That is, of course, unless you're just a fair player.

Then expect a few laser showers followed by a severe warming trend.

Can you shoot up a storm and become a Solar Storm survivor?

Solar Storm by

IMAGIC

For the Atari® 2600™

NEW RELEASE

PRESS INFORMATION

Imagic Distribution Centre, Hales Ltd.,
P.O. Box 33, Harrowbrook Road, Hinckley,
Leicestershire LE10 3DN
Tel: 0455 610770 Telex: 341316

IMAGIC'S NEW SOLAR STORM TAKES ON THE SUN!

The sun has exploded and the forecast is doom and destruction for your planet... unless...you can stop the solar fallout and invasion from alien Deltoids.

You counter attack but your defendership seems useless against the solar flak and alien laserbolts. Then the heat really turns on as your planets heat shield glows redder and redder with each Deltoid you miss.

It may sound like fun in the sun but unless you can get to the orbital platform to battle with the Deltoid armada and capture more defenderships to turn the tables on the enemy you can say goodbye planet!

Without more defenderships from alien forces the fireworks will be too much for your defence shields and the planet will explode into another solar super nova!

Solar Storm is tough stuff from your friendly neighbourhood Imagic dealer and it's just one of an exciting new series of video game cartridges to be launched by Imagic for the Atari 2000.

Press the fire button for more details by contacting The Imagic Distribution Centre, Hales Ltd., P.O. Box 33, Harrowbrook Road, Hinckley, Leicester. LE10 3DN.

END.