

FOR ATARI COMPUTERS

LIGHTNING BOLTS

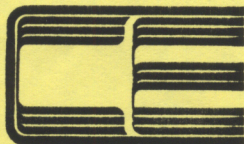

and

REACTION

©1980

Nailbiters Beware! This two game set features 'Lightning Bolts', diabolically contrived to test your nerves. Imagine, 50 opportunities to decimate those things that go bump in the night. Better than real life! More chances...but challenging. 'Reaction' is the second gripper in this set. Simply, it tests your reflexes. Two testy troublemakers you'll love if you can take the pressure. Multiple sound and color effects add to your anxieties.

Requires: 16K (cassette) or 24K (disk) and paddle controller.

This is a two game set which is menu driven. When started you may choose to play either game. At the end of each game, you may replay that game or return to the menu. The description of the lightning bolts follows:

First, you may select either automatic firing or controlled firing with the use of a paddle controller. We suggest the automatic version first so that you may see how to play the game. The game begins with a demonstration of how the game is played and an interesting sound effect. You press the RETURN key and the computer will do the firing and after 50 shots will be rated on the game. You score points by getting NEAR HITS and DIRECT HITS on the small moving object at the right side of the screen. Now plug the paddle controller into jack #1 and replay the game. You will have the power of THOR. Movement of the knob will direct your lightning bolts up or down on the screen. The red button, when depressed will unleash your power. Hits and Direct hits will be displayed and your score will be maintained. You have 50 shots make them count!

Second is the REACTION game. This is an actual test of your reflexs. All you have to do is press the RETURN key on the computer twice. After you have read the instructions for the game then press the RETURN key but don't keep it down. Wait for the word NOW to appear on the screen. Then press the RETURN key again. The computer will measure the length of time between the word NOW on the screen and your depression on the RETURN key in hundredths of a second. The computer will also rate your performance with a comment about how well or how poor you rate. If it takes you too long the computer will tire of waiting for you and abort the test. Don't press the RETURN key before the word now appears or the computer will sound an alarm. This is a very funny game at house partys after an hour or so!
