1. Hercules vs. the Titans™

You are mighty Hercules. Olympus is under siege by Titans and your gods are powerless to stop them without your help.

First, though, you must fortify yourself with the Herb of Invulnerability. It grows in one of ten dark caves flashing briefly as it blooms. But the caves also hide hungry lions. Will you risk a fatal mauling or wait for the lions to betray their presence? As you ponder, another god dies at the hands of the Titans.

In screen two, you're climbing the golden stairway to Olympus. Watch out for speeding fireballs, tumbling boulders, and rain-slicked footing! Your club, brute strength, and jumping prowess are your only defenses. Finally, you reach the Olympian battlefield. Your gods continue to die in a helocaust of fire and brimstones. The survivors help by stunning Titans briefly with thunderbolts, but only you can kill them. The entire course of mythology is at stake.

Hercules vs. the Titans and Chuck Norris—Superkicks are two great new games on one unique XONOX Double-Ender cartridge. Each game is completely different, completely independent, and each delivers full play value, with multiple screens, using enhanced memory to provide superior graphics.

Two hot games, on one Double-Ender cartridge, for the same price—or less—than most single releases. It's an unbeatable idea.

2. Chuck Norris—Superkicks™

You are Chuck Norris, the world's greatest living karate expert. Your quest is for mystical truths contained in a monastery located at the far end of a labyrinthine forest.

As you set out into the forest, you must select the right combination of paths through it. The forest is filled with evil warriors, and you must learn the safest way through.

As you choose your first path, you come face to face with a warrior. The scene instantly shifts and you are plunged into combat. You have a forearm block to defend yourself and powerful leg kicks and punches with which to thwart the enemy. Succeed and you're back in the forest again, where you must select another path. As you approach the monastery, your way is blocked by the magical Ninja. How can you hope to overcome such a powerful opponent? Will you achieve it?

An unbeatable idea, introduced with heavy nationwide television support that will create immediate awareness of this outstanding value, and fast sales for Hercules/Chuck Norris. Don't miss out on the action.

XONOX Double-Enders play on Atari® 2600 VCS™ and Sears Video Arcade™ game systems.

DOUBLE-ENDER™

XONOX introduces a unique approach to playability and value in video game cartridges — the new Double-Ender.™

Both ends of the Double-Ender cartridge are "business ends." Each side contains a separate 8K memory chip. Each end is completely independent. Each game is totally different. Each game delivers full play value, with multiple screens, using enhanced memory to provide far superior graphics. And the games are hot! Top games by today's hottest designers.

The consumer gets twice the play, twice the value, for the same price — or less — than most single releases. It's an unbeatable concept, and child research conducted on the Double-Ender idea proves it.

It will be an unbeatable product in your video game line-up, too, because each new release is backed by heavy nationwide television support, as only K-tel knows how to do it.

A bright new product idea, enhanced game play, hot titles, and strong advertising support — a combination that will move Double-Enders off your shelves faster than the action on the screen.

Double-Enders play on Atari™ 2600 VCS™ and Sears Video Arcade™ game systems. Each Double-Ender comes with dust covers to protect the end not in use.

Nationwide Television

XONOX cuts through the clutter. With the impact of $8,000,000 in introductory television spending, and with memorable commercials that jump out from the pack in a way that only K-tel knows how to do.

In the growing complexity of the video game business, XONOX stands out — proven and exciting, any way you look at it.

Turning the Business Inside Down with XONOX

K-tel has seen an opportunity to bridge the gap between what most video game system owners have now and what they could have with today's most current technology. K-tel has identified this need, and created the XONOX™ line of products to meet it — at affordable prices, offering an exceptional value.

K-tel is committed to providing game players a superior experience — in game complexity, diversity, graphics, and resolution — without having to invest in an expensive, all-new system.

XONOX offers the alternative. The Double-Enders — two completely different games on one cartridge. Expanded memory cartridges — computer-complex games that play on existing Atari® 2600 VCS® and Sears Video Arcade® systems. Dazzling new games, developed out of K-tel's years of experience in creating innovative products.

Video Games that Mean Business

Because K-tel knows its business. The business of marketing and selling timely products to the same people who are today's video game buyers. K-tel knows these kids and understands what motivates them.

K-tel has years of proven experience in television promotion to this audience.

And K-tel understands you and your needs. We have the experience and the systems to help lessen the hassle and reduce the uncertainties you face in this burgeoning new category. Solid support for you in ordering and shipping, reordering, store detailing, and point-of-purchase merchandising.

K-tel is here to stay. With better products, better values, and the kind of business support you need for better profits.

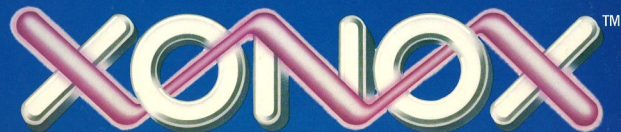

Products from XONOX — proven performers any way you look at it.

1. Sir Lancelot™

You are Lancelot, knight of old, engaged in a quest to gain the Blue Sword. Mounted on your winged horse, Pegasus, you find yourself at the entrance to a dark and foreboding ice cavern. Suddenly a strange winged creature emerges. Then another. And more. You must avoid their attack and destroy them: spear the creatures or drive them to the ground and trample them.

Now the entrance to the cavern is clear. You see the sword, but more of the winged horde and a fire-breathing dragon block your path. Your only chance against the dragon is to extinguish his flame with chunks of ice from the cavern walls. But hurry! The ice melts. Path a chunk loose, climb the steps and reach the dragon.

Get the sword and get out. Then continue the quest in another cavern, even smaller, darker, and more challenging than the first.

Sir Lancelot and Robin Hood are two great new games on one unique XONOX Double-Ender cartridge. Each game is completely different, completely independent, and each delivers full play value, with multiple screens, using enhanced memory to provide superior graphics.

Two hot games, on one Double-Ender cartridge, for the same price—or less—than most single releases. It's an unbeatable idea.

2. Robin Hood™

The evil sheriff of Nottingham has terrorized the populace and locked beautiful Maid Marian in his castle tower. You are Robin Hood, the maiden's only hope. To save her will take the utmost skill and swiftness, because Sherwood Forest is swarming with the sheriff's spear-hurling henchmen.

As you tell the henchmen with your longbow, you acquire riches that will be used to help the poor. More and more villains attack until finally you have overcome them.

Now Maid Marian! But alas! The sheriff's guards see you approach the castle. Can you dodge their arrows and fireballs long enough to shoot the gatekeeper and enter the castle? Careful! More murderous minions abound within. And randomly collapsing stairs can plunge you to sudden death. But bonus points and a kiss from Maid Marian reward your success. Ready for level two?

An unbeatable idea, introduced with heavy nationwide television support that will create immediate awareness of this outstanding value, and fast sales for Sir Lancelot/Robin Hood. Don't miss out on the action.

1. Spike's Peak™

You are Spike in a climb against time. Your precious time is ticking away. And you have only three lives to carry you through to the distant summit.

Along the winding Foothills Trail you must jump bears, avoid diving eagles and hop across the plummeting stream. One cave holds a treasure map. But another holds a hungry grizzly — and the end of one life.

Next is a sheer rock wall, so watch your step. Jump from ledge to ledge or pull yourself straight up by pounding in your pickaxe. Collect gold nuggets along the way. But failure to jump a mountain cactus could cost you a life... you'll be temporarily paralyzed so you can't dodge falling rocks. At the top only slippery glacial ice remains. Also snowslides, crevasses, the dreaded Abominable Snowman and Ice Diamonds worth 10,000 points. Reach the summit and get a crack at level two.

2. Ghost Manor™

On a fog-shrouded, spooky night, you find yourself in a lonely graveyard outside Ghost Manor. A friend in distress is trapped inside (either a girl or boy you choose). You must knock over all the tombstones in order to find the key, the lantern and tools you need to enter the Manor and rescue the prisoner. But beware! Some of the tombstones conceal ghastly spirits that will attack you.

Once you have the key, you approach Ghost Manor. But the entrance is guarded, and spirits lurk nearby. Destroy them and enter.

Inside the evil mansion, you are confronted with ghosts and a witch that blows out your lantern. Search the rooms and find the casket that magically transports you to the next floor.

Finally you find your friend. You made it! But no — now both of you have to fight your way back through the house to safety. Good luck!

Spike's Peak and Ghost Manor are two great new games on one unique XONOX Double-ENDER cartridge. Each game is completely different, completely independent, and each delivers full play value, with multiple screens, using enhanced memory to provide superior graphics.

THUNDARR

THE BARBARIAN

While you play on one screen, events are taking place on the Invisible Screen.

Plays on Atari® 2600 VCS™ and Sears Video Arcade™

Join Forces with the Superhuman Hero of a New Future Age

You've seen Thundarr on TV. Now become Thundarr, and face the challenge of Invisible Screen™ action. While you play on one screen, events that affect your play take place on a screen you must alternately play.

You begin in a series of deep caverns beneath a castle. You must search the caverns for a vial of powerful potion you can use to release Princess Ariel, who is imprisoned in the castle's tower on the Invisible Screen™. You must elude strange mutant creatures and vicious bats, using only your wits since your Sun Sword is ineffective in the cavern's darkness.

While you strive for the potion, Princess Ariel faces danger from the swooping Bird People. You must abandon your quest — switch screens — and rush to protect her, using your now-energized Sun Sword.

Safe for the moment, return to look for the potion. Find it, reach and release Princess Ariel, and the two of you jump to safety, only to begin an even more challenging adventure.

Heavy nationwide television advertising will create quick action on this top licensed game. Don't miss out on it.
